DETAILS OF THE MARCH 2010 FORUM

Next Forum - Wednesday 10 MARCH 2010

Topic - AS 9100 Rev C. (2009) –The foundation of a powerful QMS for the global Aviation, Space & Defence Industries.

This latest version of AS9100C (2009) QMS Standard consists of
a) all the universal ISO 9001(2008) generic requirements plus
b) many more very potent Industry-specific requirements.

The presenter will outline in plain English the key industry-specific requirements of this new QMS standard and the impact of its increased scope.

Whilst the AS9100B-version applied only to the global Aerospace sector, the scope of the new C-version now covers the world-wide Aviation, Space and Defence industries.

The presenter will also highlight why this AS9100 series of QMS standards can also be very suitable for any other industry-sector organisation, that wishes to adopt a more effective risk-based process and customer-focused management system, than with ISO 9001 alone.
